LIKELY CANDIDATES FOR RED DEER RIDING.

The Edmonton News in discussing the Alberta constituencies in the coming Dominion election, predicts that in Red Deer the most active campaign for the Liberal nomination will take place. Already the claims of various men of prominence in the party are being discussed. Geo. W. Smith of Red Deer, who was a close second to Dr. McIntyre for the nomination in Stratford a year ago, is believed to have the best chance. The friends of J. J. Moore, M.P.P., are keeping him before the public, while there are a very large number who would like to see Dr. Clark of Olds at Ottawa. If he should be sent there he would certainly do the constituency great credit, and it is a pity if it province could not in some way, have the advantage of his services in some department of public life. Conservative possibilities are Andrew Gilmore of Lacombe, who gave Mr. Fulton a close run for the local house, and J. A. Jackson, the well known Ponoka barrister, while Mr. J. J. Moore of Red Deer. Mr. Moore's opponent in the provincial election, would care to accept the nomination he would find many of his party associates to support him for it. Altogether the situation in Red Deer is decided, and the most interesting in the province. Whatever candidate takes the field the result will be good for many of the provincial constituencies of Manitoba, Lacombe and Red Deer are all included in this riding, and only a few votes divided the parties of each of these. On the north, the Conservative candidate is included in the provincial house Mr. Jackson gave Dr. McIntyre, the Liberal member, a close run, while on the south, part of the house which Mr. McIntyre, one of the Conservative members, is to be considered. McIntyre's home town, Edson, is in Red Deer. We may rest assured, therefore, that when the writs are issued, the spectacular fight of the province will be in this constituency.

ALBERTA GETS THE BEST.

There is no limitation in the number of people from Nebraska and Iowa who are moving to Western Canada to live, and during the first half of April four hundred and twenty-eight of the very best people of those two states have moved, bag and baggage, across the border and become citizens of Canada. These four hundred and twenty-eight emigrants carried with them seventy-nine freight carloads of household goods and their financial condition can be ascertained when it is known that they combined property, every cent of which was in Canada, was $124,800. And this the record for only two weeks, the number being further limited by the fact that only those passing through the Omaha gateway are included in this list, which is furnished by the Canadian government agent in this city, W. V. Bennett.

Indeed, the movement from the central west into Western Canada has become so serious that to emigrate from that country alone is charged the starting cost, and the same panic by the census bureau of the United States, that the mid-western states have not equalled in population during the last five years, despite the thousands of new settlers who have arrived from the west. According to this census report, the outgoing settlers have taken with them, in the shape of the principal destination of the outgoing settlers was Western Canada.

While Alberta and Saskatchewan received the greatest number of emigrants from these middle states, Manitoba came in for a fair share and even British Columbia is receiving a few of the "movers."

Twice during last month were full trains run from this section through to Canada. One of these went through to Calgary while the other one went to Regina, while Red Deer, midway between Calgary and Edmonton, got the lion's share of those who went to Alberta.

On April 15th fifty-nine emigrants from Nebraska for the Canadian Northwest. These fifty-nine people were not included in the four hundred and twenty-eight who departed was credited to the first half of April.

The people going into Canada from Iowa and Nebraska are not those who have made failures in this part of the country and are moving along, hoping for something to "turn up." On the other hand, they are the very best farmers in the whole country, and in most cases are farmers who have not sold their land down here but are moving to Canada expecting to buy larger farms than they had in their own country and by using only a portion of the money for which they sold out.

For instance, among those who have gone to Canada in the last two weeks are Peter Forra and family, and Chris Howard and family, all of Nebraska. Nebraska's Newman Grove is in the famous Elkhorn Valley, the very finest section in all Nebraska and not an acre of land anywhere around there can be purchased for less than $15 per acre. These men sold out their high-priced land and will put a portion of their money in lands in Alberta.

From near York, Neb., R. E. Horton and T. A. Blackburn with their families, went to Saskatchewan. Both men owned fine farms in York county where lands sell for $100 an acre. And both men said they could not afford to own such high priced lands, that they investment. So both sold out their York County farms and started northwest to Canada.

Among those who will leave sometime later in April for the Canadian Northwest are W. E. Moore and family, Aurora, Neb., M. F. Ryan and family, O'Neill, Neb., V. E. Pierce and family, Grand Island, Iowa, C. D. Smith and family and S. D. Maxwell and family, Gretna, Iowa. All of these people are among the best in the countries from which they come, and all are men of affairs and means. Filing up with this class of people, Western Canada should very shortly take front rank among

It will be with mixed feelings that many will learn of the departure of John Hollis from Hobbema. Mr. Hollis was appointed clerk at the reserve some five years ago, and proved a capable official. Being widely read, he was able to converse authoritatively on diverse subjects. Mr. and Mrs. Hollis' home was a veritable haven for many, and their departure will be regretted. During the past four months Mr. Hollis has been in charge of the Sarcee Reserve, near Calgary, but has now been appointed to Graveland, Manitoba. We congratulate Mr. Hollis on his appointment, and that he and his family will find the same congenial surroundings in their new home as they had in Alberta is the wish of all.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. McKelvey and family take this opportunity to thank the many friends who have extended such kindness and sympathy to them in their bereavement, their kind act and words will forever be sweet solace to them.
